Miami, 27.02.2017, 17:03 Time

USPA NEWS - The Hungarian Hollywood Council is a special, unique and already influential civil organization which aims at keeping the memories of major Hollywood-stars born in Hungary and making them well-known in Hungary.

The Council also promotes the professional results of the young Hungarian movie-makers, supports their activity via its international network. The civil organization founded last year already proved with its many successful events that there is a growing interest to learn more about the results of the Hungarian movie industry. Let us not forget that the founding fathers of the biggest Hollywood film studios, like the Paramount Pictures and the 20th Century Fox were born in Hungary.

Many members of the Council celebrated together the success of the newly awarded Oscar-winning production, the best live action short, the “Sing“ at a great downtown location. Ambassador Balazs Bokor, former Consul General in Los Angeles, the President of the Council demonstrated the best moments of some former Academy Galas where Hungarians got the Oscar.

Those present were happy to follow how Vilmos Zsigmond (Close Encounters of the Third Kind), Istvan Szabó (Mephisto), Miklós Rózsa (Ben Hur, Double Life, Spellbound), László Nemes Jeles (Son of Saul), Zoltán Elek (Mask), Adrien Brody (The Pianist), Rachel Weisz (Constant Gardener), Goldie Hawn (Cactus Flower) got the Oscars. Brody, Hawn and Weisz all have Hungarian mothers. Director Ferenc Rófusz, Vice-President of the Council talked about his Oscar-award and the outrageous moment of receiving the Award on his behalf by a representative of the Hungarian organs, as Rófusz was not allowed to travel to L.A. for the Gala.

A number of well-known movie personalities were present at the party. Director Gabor Csupó talked about his new film, the Pappa Pia. Béla Bunyik, the founder of the Los Angeles Hungarian Film Festival underlined the successes of the Hungarian cinema in the USA. The optimism of the members of the Council was well-founded as the “Sing“ has really got the award. We congratulate the full crew of the “Sing“, Director Kristóf Deák and specially music composer Ádám Balázs who is also a member of the Council.
